LIE DETECTOR TESTS ASKED BY JURORS FOR 2 WITNESSES

An Adams County coroner's jury Thursday afternoon asked District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter and state police to conduct lie detector tests to determine who was driving a station wagon which was wrecked April 14 causing the death of Miss Alice Johnson, 18, of 227 W. High St.

In its verdict the jury ruled that whoever was driving the station wagon when it left a three-lane straight stretch of the Lincoln Highway west of here about 3:30 o'clock Easter morning was operating the vehicle in a "careless" manner.

But the jury claimed it could not decide who was driving because of the contradictory testimony of the two principal witnesses before it.

WITNESSES DISAGREE

Mrs. Patricia Penn, 20, of 229 W. High St., testified she had operated the station wagon from the colored Elks home at Chambersburg to the Lincoln Highway at Chambersburg. There, she said, the car was stopped and Stephen Blair Marks, 22, Hancock, Md., a member of the Signal Corps stationed at Fort Lee, Va., took the wheel. She said she then "put my head on his shoulder, slid down and went to sleep." She said she continued asleep until the accident.

Marks said Mrs. Penn drove to somewhere along the road toward Gettysburg and then asked him to drive. He said he drove for a time, then Mrs. Penn again took the wheel, sometime before the accident. He said after Mrs. Penn began driving the car he went to sleep and knew nothing about the accident. Marks explained that the last change of drivers was made because, as he understood it, Miss Johnson was married and the two young women did not want to be seen in Gettysburg with the two men. Mrs. Penn took over the driving, he said, because she would know how close to Gettysburg she could safely drive under the circumstances.

TREE PLANTING IS COMPLETED BY JAYCEES

The Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce this morning reported completion of its project to have trees planted along the streets of Gettysburg.

Thursday evening members of the Jaycees placed bricks in the open spaces about the four trees planted last fall in Lincoln Square and it is anticipated that the wrought iron benches purchased by the Lions Club as part of "Campaign Gettysburg" will be placed about the four trees today. The iron benches will be circular, completely surrounding each tree, and will be painted white.

Eight trees have been planted in the first block of Baltimore St., thus making that the only "perfect block," as far as the tree planting program is concerned.

COULDN'T FILL ORDERS

Robert Weiland, chairman of the tree planting committee of the Junior Chamber, said grafted male ginkgo trees were placed in accordance with the "Campaign Gettysburg" plans. There are four on each side of the street on the first block on Baltimore St. G. C. Murphy Co. bought three of the trees, Nicholas A. Meligakes bought two of them, one for the Plaza and one for the Lincoln

MOOSE EXPECT FAMILY PICNIC TO LURE 5,000

The Gettysburg Moose lodge is anticipating 5,000 for the annual family picnic to be held by the lodge Sunday, May 26, at the South Mountain Fairgrounds according to discussion at Thursday night's meeting of the lodge at its home on York St.

Reports showed more than 4,000 present last year when large numbers of the 2,000 members accompanied by their families appeared for the picnic. Governor Archie Martin, who is serving as general chairman for the picnic, said reports of his subcommittees on the enthusiasm shown by members for the picnic this year indicate that possibly an additional 1,000 adults and youngsters may attend if weather is good.

The committee is securing hot dogs, sauerkraut, hamburgers, potato chips, ice cream and soft drinks in quantities for 5,000, Martin said.

Members of the Women of the Moose will conduct games and contests for the youngsters between 2 and 3 in the afternoon at the fairgrounds. The Will Groff Agency of York will present a show from 3 to 4 p.m. in the main auditorium. Food will be served from 12 noon to 4 o'clock. A bus will travel back and forth from the Moose lodge to the fairgrounds to provide transportation. Communists Claim Capture Of U.S. 'Copter Over Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Communist North Korea said its ground forces fired on and forced down a U.S. Army helicopter today just north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

The Reds said the plane was damaged badly. There was no announcement of the fate of the two American pilots, Capt. Ben Weakley Stutts and Capt. Charleston W. Voltz.

The disclosure that the helicopter was brought down by gunfire was made by the senior North Korean delegate to the Military Armistice Commission.

REQUEST RETURN

The U.N. Command had told the commission earlier that the helicopter made an emergency landing on the north side of the Han River estuary, in Red territory 17 miles northwest of Seoul. The U.N. Command requested that the Communists return the pilots and the aircraft immediately.

The Communist delegate called the flight an intentional breach of the armistice agreement but evaded a direct reply to the request for return of the men and the helicopter. In a similar case in 1958 an American pilot was returned in 11 days.

A U.N. spokesman said the of-

THIRD POLIO CLINIC MOVED UP TO MAY 26

The third "Polio Vaccine Distribution Day" will be held Sunday, May 26, Dr. Harrison Harbach, chairman of the Adams County Medical Society committee in charge of the mass immunization program, announced today.

Originally the third distribution had been scheduled for June 2, Dr. Harbach said, but because of various baccalaureate exercises that day and other activities in connection with the school commencement it was decided to change the date to May 26.

The polio clinics May 26 will be the last in a series held over the last three months. Type I Sabin oral vaccine was given to nearly 40,000 countians at the first of the series on March 10.

REMOVE POLIO THREAT

At the second clinic April 21, more than 30,000 received the Type III vaccine.

Type II will be issued at the clinic May 26. Dr. Harbach urged those who missed the Type III vaccine to take Type II and then make arrangements later to secure the Type III polio vaccine.

Because of the numbers involved it is believed that the program, if the third distribution of the vaccine is as successful as the first two, will practically wipe out polio as a threat to the county for a number of years.

SAME SETUP

Dr. Harbach said the program May 26 will be "the same as during the other two clinics."

The clinic at Gettysburg Senior High School will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The clinics at Littlestown Rolling Acres School and at Fairfield, Biglerville and New Oxford High Schools will be from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Physicians will be in charge at each location assisted by nurses, nurses' aides and local organizations including the Lions Clubs.

ABOARD USS KEARSARGE (AP)—Astronaut Gordon Cooper was merely a bit woozy when he finished a 34-hour trip into space—and thereby may have hastened the day when man lands on the moon.

Cooper, 36, expressed confidence that "We have learned a lot from this mission for future, more extended space operations."

The spaceman's perilous descent to his exactly predicted impact point 96 miles southeast of Midway Island Thursday afternoon was full of drama and heroism. But his physical condition was what most pleased space agency doctors examining him today.

KENNEDY CALLS

Ben James, National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman aboard this recovery ship, said the medical men were "very happy with Cooper's condition. In layman's language, you would say his condition is normal. "The only thing he did experience was about 15 seconds of being woozy after he stepped out of his Faith 7 capsule. This was normal and expected."

President Kennedy, who congratulated the Oklahoma Air Force major by telephone a few minutes after he hit the deck, told the nation on radio and television that Cooper's feat "represents a great achievement for our society and a great achievement for free men and women."

SYSTEM FAILED

"Peace has her victories as well as war, and this was one of the victories for the human spirit today."

Cooper's spirit did not falter when near the end of a "textbook" flight his capsule developed electrical difficulties.

He was in the 19th orbit when a light snapped on which was intended to do so only as he fired his reverse rockets. The automatic control system went haywire in some inexplicable manner.

Tension mounted aboard this big ship and at the launch headquarters in Cape Canaveral, Fla., where Cooper had blasted off Wednesday morning.

OPERATED ROCKETS

Cooper would have to fire his rockets manually and also personally adjust the vital descent attitude of Faith 7. John H. Glenn Jr., Cooper's fellow astronaut and predecessor in space, undertook to talk him down. Glenn was aboard the tracking ship Coastal Sentry off southern Japan.

Manual re-entry was not a novel situation. Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter experienced similar trouble—but as a result landed well off target.

Calmly, Cooper responded "roger" or "okay" to Glenn's counsel, and on the 22nd orbit they started the count-down together. A mistake of a single second in firing any of the three reverse rockets could mean a landing error of seven miles. A few seconds awry could spell disaster.

URGES MENTAL HEALTH STUDY IN THIS AREA

Rev. Herbert W. Stroup, dean of students and professor of practical theology at the Lutheran Seminary, speaking on "Expanding the Mental Health Program in Adams County" at a special meeting of the Adams County Mental Health Association held in the Student Union Building on the college campus Thursday afternoon, said that in 1953 when the first major move for mental health was made in Pennsylvania the state was 47th in cured discharges from state institutions.

The Department of Welfare was given authority to appoint an advisory council and a 10-year plan was evolved which took political patronage away from state hospitals, and a commissioner of public health was created, Stroup said. The state now ranks 26th in cured discharges.

VISITING PROGRAM

Introduced by the Rev. Otto Kroeger as a director of the Pennsylvania Mental Health Association and a past president of the Tri-County Mental Health Association of Harrisburg, the Rev. Mr. Stroup advised the local group to "make a complete study and summary of county needs and to educate yourselves along this line, make careful selection of your school systems, clergy, etc., and to see that laymen have the main thrust in an over-all 52 week proposition."

He said "The local association

NEBRASKAN IS SELECTED AS UP MODERATOR

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Associated Press Religion Writer
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—For the first time in its 175-year history, the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. today had a Nebraskan as its spiritual leader.

He is the Rev. Silas G. Kessler, 51, of Hastings, who won over five other candidates to become the church's moderator.

With him presiding, the law-making General Assembly of the 3 1/2-million-member denomination moved into its second day of business, featuring some sharp jabs at proposed changes in federal tax laws.

CHARGES BY PEW
J. Howard Pew, Philadelphia oil man, charged that income tax revisions recommended by President Kennedy's administration would violate "the dignity of the church."

In a prepared report as head of the church's gifts foundation, Pew criticized proposals that would lump all income tax deductions together, and limit them to amounts above 5 per cent of income.

To classify church contributions with other charitable donations, and also with interest and medical deductions, he said, fails to "distinguish between religious and secular affairs" and "degrades the church."

WILL CUT GIFTS
Pew appealed to Presbyterians to protest to the congressmen against this "legislation which will be destructive of our American system of free individual support of religious and charitable institutions."

The proposed changes, he said, would reduce church gifts and force a "serious curtailment" of programs. He added:

"It is also my belief that once this tax is established it will be progressively increased until the church can no longer fulfill its God-given mission."

Dr. Kessler succeeds the Rev. Dr. Marshall Scott, of Chicago. He has served as moderator both of his local, presbytery and of the Nebraska synod.

LIE DETECTOR

Mrs. Penn, while a patient at the hospital after the accident, told him that she was driving the car at the time of the accident. When he interrogated Marks, Dr. Marks told him he was driving the station wagon at the time of the accident.

Marks explained to the jury that he told Dr. Wolff he was driving because he did not know whether Mrs. Penn had a driver's license, he said, and he decided to "take the blame" to protect her. He said he later told Mrs. Penn, when he visited her room in the hospital that he had "taken the blame for her" and she "thanked me."

Mrs. Penn said she could not recall telling Dr. Wolff she was driving the car, but said that possibly she could have told him she was the driver because she felt responsible in that she had borrowed the station wagon.

WAS BUSY KISSING

Charles Edward Marks, 24, brother of Stephen Marks, who was a passenger in the rear seat of the station wagon and who said he is a technician for the weather bureau at Suitland, Md., agreed with his brother on the major details of the driving preceding the accident, saying that Mrs. Penn drove first from the Elks in Chambersburg to a spot somewhere along the Lincoln Highway, that Stephen Marks then drove for a time and that Mrs. Penn again took over the driving before the accident occurred.

Charles Marks said he did not believe the car was going more than 50 miles an hour prior to the accident, but said he could not tell how fast the vehicle was actually traveling because he had his back to the road at that time, being engaged in kissing Miss Johnson. He said he then felt the car "hit the dirt," start to skid and then "it was going over."

Mrs. Penn told the jury that she borrowed the station wagon from her uncle, Jim Dandy, of Gettysburg, "to drive down to the diner." After going there she and Miss Johnson met several young men, one of them Mrs. Penn's cousin, and at their request decided to drive Mrs. Penn's cousin to Chambersburg. The cousin drove the car to Chambersburg, she said, and then the two young women decided to go to the colored Elks at Chambersburg, arriving there about 12:30 in the morning.

ONE DRINK APIECE

At the Elks, Mrs. Penn said, she and Miss Johnson met Stephen and Charles Marks. Each had one drink, she said, and about 2:30 the four left the Elks. She said they had only one drink because the "place was crowded."

Charles Marks said he drove Sylvester Anderson's car to Chambersburg and there he and his brother met the two Gettysburg young women. Mrs. Penn said she had not known the Marks brothers before meeting them at Chambersburg.

After some discussion in the parking lot at Chambersburg, it was decided that Stephen and Charles Marks would accompany Miss Johnson and Mrs. Penn to Gettysburg in the station wagon. Sylvester Anderson and others in his group, with whom the Marks brothers had gone to Chambersburg, would follow in Anderson's car and pick up Stephen and Charles Marks in Gettysburg to return them to Hancock.

The testimony of all of the witnesses showed that the Anderson car followed the station wagon, stopping when it did, to change drivers. None of the occupants of that car was present to testify at the inquest.

3 DIFFERENT STORIES

State Policeman Stanley Jezewski testified that Charles Marks "told me three different stories of the accident," and related the versions starting with Marks' first statement that he knew nothing about the accident, that Miss Johnson had resisted his first advances and that he had then gone to sleep.

Photographer Robert Ziegler showed pictures of the wrecked car and of the scene of the accident made the next day. Marks in the pictures indicated, according to Officer Jezewski, that the station wagon was off the side of the road for a distance of about 350 feet before it apparently attempted to return to the highway and rolled over when the front wheel struck the paved portion of the road, which was slightly higher than the berm.

Mrs. Penn, mother of three children, told the jury she is separated from her husband, George Penn, who is "in New York."

DIED AT SCENE

Dr. Wolff testified to the injuries of the occupants of the car. Miss Johnson was pinned in the car when it overturned, Dr. C. G. Crist, the coroner, told the jury, and was dead when released after the car had been pulled onto its wheels. She suffered a fractured skull, broken neck and numerous other injuries.

The coroner's jury included Maurice Steinhour, Francis I. Linn, Harold Ecker, Clair Sanders, Emory Thomas and G. Henry Roth. The verdict of the jury was that Miss Johnson "came to her death from injuries inflicted when a station wagon in which she was a passenger upset. The testimony indicated the accident was due to the careless driving of the operator of the vehicle. The testimony was so directly contradic-day of each of those months. The July meeting will be held the second Thursday after month because of the centennial events at the beginning of the month.

Reports of Governor Martin and Secretary George Naugle of the meeting of the governors and secretaries of Moose lodges of Pennsylvania held at York last week-end showed Gettysburg second place in the eastern division in membership gain for this year. The reports showed the lodge 25 short of its goal of 2,000 members, they said, and an effort will be made to obtain 25 new members by June 30, the end of the "Golden Anniversary" membership campaign.

PARK NEARLY COMPLETE

Reports showed that only construction of a fence and sanding of a beach remain to complete work at Moose Park—the farm purchased by the lodge, about three miles east of here and north of the Lincoln Highway. The first formal program there will be a dinner for the 1526 Club scheduled at 6:30 o'clock June 13.

Plans discussed by the members call for someone to be on duty at the gate to the park each weekend during the summer to admit members and their families for swimming, picnicking, baseball and other activities. If a member's wife takes the children there when the husband cannot be present, they must have with them their husband's membership card to obtain admittance. Life guards will be on duty at the pond on weekends. On weekday evenings Moose families planning to use the park can obtain the key to the gate from the lodge office on York St.

Attorney Oscar F. Spicer, Gettysburg, represented Stephen Marks at the inquest.

Asks Damages For Crash Last Fall

Charles G. Kachel, Gettysburg R. 5, has started an action in trespass in county court against Robert L. Shroyer, Gettysburg R. 5, and American Casualty Co., Harrisburg.

The suit, according to the complaint filed for Kachel by Attorney S. M. Raffensperger, is based on an auto accident at 9 a.m. November 15, 1962.

According to the complaint, Kachel drove from a private drive onto the Bonneauville Rd. three miles east of here. As he entered the road he saw Shroyer approaching about 300 feet away at a speed of approximately 70 miles an hour. Shroyer's car skidded across the center of the highway from the north lane of the highway to the south lane and struck the Kachel car, causing $450 damage. The complaint alleges that Shroyer was an employee of the American Casualty Co. engaged in company business at the time of the accident.

U.S. Purchases 66 Acres Near

"Peace Light." Sixty-six and one-half acres of land have been purchased by the National Park Service, U.S. Department of the Interior, to be added to the government-owned area of the Gettysburg Battlefield. It was announced today by Dr. J. Walter Coleman, local superintendent.

The Government purchased 66 acres of land from Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy H. Winebrenner, for $20,000 and one-half acre from Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Eckert, for $1,250.

The Hoffman-Winebrenner property is the former Gettysburg Airport on the Munningsburg road in front of the Eternal Light Peace Memorial. The Eckert property adjoins it.

Doctor Coleman said the land, when acquired, will be leased by the government to local farmers for agricultural and orchard purposes. This was also planned in the authorization bill. The purpose is to maintain the land so that it will look as nearly as possible the way it looked in July 1863 when the three days' Battle of Gettysburg was fought.

Model City Is Displayed Here:

A miniature city built by Howard Schaefer of Alliance, Ohio, went on display today in the window of the Raymond Home Furnishing store in Center square and will remain there until May 14. Local merchants are sponsoring the exhibit.

The display includes models of five residence of various designs, a bank, bakery, auto showrooms, filling station, jewelry, grocery and drug stores. The "city" is arranged on two levels and miniature trucks and cars move along its streets past many types of merchandise.

Flashing lights add color to the display.

"Buy and Build in Gettysburg" is the slogan for the exhibit.

The model city measures seven feet long, three and half feet deep and two feet high. The "city" was recently in Waynesboro and Chambersburg and after the local exhibition it will be moved to Hanover.

Soroptimists Favor Keeping

Plot In Square: The Soroptimist club wants the center plot to remain in Center square. At its regular meeting Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hennig, York street, the club authorized Mrs. Hennig, chairman of the Civic Affairs committee, to send a letter to Burgess C. A. Heiges notifying him that the club desired the square left "as is."

Mrs. Hennig led the discussion. Members of the club contended that the plot, when kept weeded and trimmed, was not an eyesore, but a pleasing green spot to be enjoyed during the heat of summer. The group discussed the traffic hazard angle and opinions were that traffic conditions would be worse with a "straight thorough" plan.

Open House At Inductive: The

Inductive Equipment corporation will hold "open house" for residents of Gettysburg and vicinity Thursday afternoon from 1:30 to 3 o'clock at the plant, Quarry Park.

An invitation is extended to the general public to visit the plant, see it in operation and inspect the various types of machinery used in the manufacture of transformers and other electrical equipment, and view the products.

Approximately 150 members of the York chapter of the American Society for Metals were expected at the Inductive Equipment plant this afternoon for a tour of inspection prior to attending the May meeting and dinner at Gettysburg college tonight. They will be the guests of John R. Gaston, president and general manager of the company.

NONINTERFERENCE

No one has yet become wise enough to write a formula for happiness adaptable to all. For happiness primarily is relative. The things that might bring happiness to you might not bring happiness to another.

Noninterference, however, is one royal road to the happiness of millions.

To leave to others their own peculiar desires for intercourse with people and things is in itself a very sure assurance toward all-round happiness.

A man is a structure. The man himself must add to or take away. And the methods used in themselves are contributory both to his own growth and to the growth of others, providing that he does no interfering with the rights and opinions of others.

Eyes you have All right, use them. Your way. A brain you have. Don't rent it out!

Nature is very great. Interfere with her and she is apt to hardly jolt one so presumptuous. Human nature is very great. Interfere with it and it in turn is sure to resent and disqualify the best of men.

Oh, what ease and facility there are in freedom!

"Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," were the words of the wisest believer in noninterference that the world has ever known.

You have a wonderful work to perform today. Perform it. Without interference with anyone.

SYMPATHY

If riches made men kinder, or fame

Or pomp or place were fellow-

ship's first need;

If culture all that's gentle must precede,

Then wealth were good and lack of it were shame,

But in true living all men are the same;

The poorest man may do the kindest deed;

A mind untaught may better

live its creed,

Than that which shines with learning's brilliant flame.

True sympathy is not a grace acquired,

Brave hearts and good untutored

may remain,

Though culture is a charm to be

Rough hands, dull minds, undying

love may gain.

Wisdom and skill for silver may

Only great souls can feel

PHOTOS MAY BE OF SUB WRECK

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—An oceanographic scientist said today photographs have been obtained of what appears to be debris on the ocean bottom where the nuclear submarine Thresher is believed lost with 129 men.

The announcement was made at Woods Hole, Mass., by Dr. Paul M. Fye, director of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute, who said, "It has not been confirmed that these small objects are from the submarine Thresher."

He also said, "No readily identifiable objects are shown, but the pictures are being analyzed and studied by scientists and Navy experts."

Dr. Fye said the photographs were dispatched immediately to the Navy court of inquiry at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard.

The court is trying to determine what caused loss of the Thresher during a deep-sea test dive 220 miles east of Boston April 10.

Dr. Fye said the photographs were taken by special cameras lowered to within 30 feet of the ocean bottom where the water is more than 8,000 feet deep.

The photographs were delivered to Woods Hole Wednesday by the research vessel Atlantis II.

STONE TAKES
FIRST ROUND

By NORMAN ROWLAND

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Bob Stone, whose golf tournament play usually is restricted to events close to his Junction City, Kan., home, turned back the challenge of both gusty winds and regular PGA tourists to grab the first round lead Thursday in the $35,000 Oklahoma City Open with a 4-under-par 68.

Stone's 68 over the 7,050-yard par 36-36-72 Quail Creek Course was a stroke better than defending champion Doug Sanders, George Bayer, Ken Still and host pro Ernie Vossler.

But his most pressing challenge—for a time at least—came from young Rex Baxter Jr., who made the turn in 33 and appeared easy to take the lead until he fell victim to a foul wind on the 17th fairway.

Baxter, who had rolled in another birdie to go four under, pushed his shot a little off the mark and the wind blew it out of bounds. He managed a double-bogey on the 17th and finished with a 74.

Baxter's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Rhinehart, at the EUB parsonage.

The Community Vacation Bible School will be held June 17-28, excluding Saturday and Sunday, 9 to 11:30 each morning. Preregistration cards for all pupils may be secured from the pastors Sunday. All registrations must be returned by Sunday, May 26, in order that sufficient supplies may be ordered for the school. Teachers and assistants or helpers are needed. Parents are requested to arrange for transportation of children. Teachers and helpers will meet Monday, May 27, at 8 p.m. at Grace United Church of Christ.

Warriors Down Delone 5-3 Here Thursday For Fourth Straight Victory

Gettysburg High School ran its winning streak to four straight here Thursday afternoon by downing the Delone Catholic baseball team 5-3, a three-run spree in the last of the fourth inning insuring victory.

Gary Nelson got the Warriors off to a lead in the second inning with a solo home run.

In the top of the fourth the Squires knotted the count when Dave Knox tripled and raced home on a single by Steve Little.

Four hits, plus two Delone miscues, produced three runs for Gettysburg. Ken Ketterman and Tommy Collins opened with singles and Nelson forced Collins at second base. John Longanecker singled, two Delone errors followed, and then Conway Bushey singled to account for the runs.

A walk to Tony Bushey, an infield out, stolen base and Nelson's single added the Warrior's final run in the fifth.

SQUIRES 30 TWO

Delone put together singles by Henry Reese and Knox and an error for two runs in the sixth for the final scoring of the game. Longanecker twirled a five-hit for the Warriors and fanned six. His opponent, Reese, was tagged for eight safeties, two by Nelson.

Dallis Hoffman, assistant coach, handled the Warriors in the absence of Coach Don Young who was ill.

Gettysburg, 4-7 overall, closes its campaign at Waynesboro Tuesday. Delone, now 4-5, meets Littlestown at McSherrystown in its final Monday.

BOSTON TAKES AL LEAD WITH WIN OVER L.A.

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
"The best strategy," Manager Johnny Pesky proclaimed, "is to have a 6-foot-4, 210-pounder step up to the plate, hope that he rips one—and he does."

So perhaps the Boston Red Sox manager was indulging in his favorite bit of deft maneuvering Thursday when, with two out, Lou Clinton doubled in two runs and put the Red Sox off and winging into the American League lead.

Red Sox right-hander Earl Wilson, staked to early lead, threw a two-hitter at Los Angeles and beat the Angels 3-0. When Cleveland edged Chicago 5-4 in a night game, the Red Sox took over the top spot .015 points ahead of the White Sox.

ORIOLES BLAST SENATORS

Baltimore blasted Washington 9-1 in the only other American League game scheduled.

Baltimore's Brooks Robinson drove in four runs and Jackie Brandt drove in three more as the Orioles blasted Washington and moved into third place, just one game back. Robinson, who has hit safely in 13 consecutive games, had three singles. Chuck Estrada won it, allowing only two hits before his elbow tightened and he left in the sixth.

Max Alvis had a home run leading off the last of the ninth, breaking a 4-4 tie at Cleveland and dropping the White Sox into second place. The homer was the first run scored off relief ace Jim Brosnan in 7-2-3 innings since Chicago obtained him from Cincinnati.

The Eagles scored in the first inning when Dave Bricker walked, stole second base and raced home on Sam Bricker's double.

Fairfield knotted the score in the top of the fifth. Mike Wyatt singled, stole second base and continued to third on an overthrow on the steal. He then tallied the Knights' lone run after Greg Wertz's fly to center.

Bermudian iced the outcome in its half of the fifth. Don McCauslin was hit by a pitched ball. Dave Bricker popped out. Sam Bricker walked. Paul McCauslin singled. Louie Kuntz was hit by a pitched ball and Leighton McGonnell singled to account for the four runs.

Pete Kemper's Bermudian team finished with an overall 7-8-1 mark while Jack McAndrews' Knights were 3-9 for the season.

Big Little League Will Open Monday; Hen Bream Will Toss Out First Ball

Gettysburg's Big Little Baseball League season will get underway Monday evening at 6 o'clock when the Exchange Club and Eagles meet on the field at the Recreation Park.

Henry T. Bream, athletic director at Gettysburg College, will speak briefly before throwing out the first ball.

Glenn L. Bream, league president, has asked members of the four idle teams to be present Monday, wearing their caps, in order to take part in the opening ceremonies with the two participating teams.

There is a group of new candidates desiring to be placed on team rosters and all have been ordered to report Monday evening for tryouts prior to the opening game. A special meeting of league managers and directors will be held at the field at 5:45 when those reporting for tryouts will be assigned to squads. There will be no further tryouts for candidates.

Another manager is still needed to coach the Phillips 66 entry. Anyone interested is requested to be present Monday evening and report to Curt Eckert.

DODGERS TAKE SECOND AFTER BEATING BUGS

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
For a guy without a store, Jim Gilliam is really giving everyone the business.

Gilliam, a sure-fingered infielder who loses his job every spring but winds up behind the counter once the rush season starts, scored the game's only run as the Los Angeles Dodgers edged Pittsburgh 1-0 Thursday night and moved into second place in the National League.

A 34-year-old switch-hitter, Gilliam loses his job to the Dodgers' latest phenom almost every spring. This time he stayed in the back room while heralded Nate Oliver took over at second base and the Dodgers experimented with Tommy Davis at third base.

HITTING AT .457

With that lineup, the Dodgers found business a bit slow, so in came Gilliam. In the last nine games, Gilliam has hit at a .457 clip and during that stretch the Dodgers have won seven games while climbing up the standings.

Gilliam got the Dodgers started against the Pirates with his third single and eventually scored on Johnny Roseboro's two-out single in the ninth. Johnny Podres got the victory with a seven-hitter, leaving the Dodgers only three games behind first-place San Francisco.

The Giants got two-run homers from Willie Mays and Willie McCovey and nipped the New York Mets 6-5. The third-place Chicago Cubs beat Cincinnati 2-0. Milwaukee defeated St. Louis 5-2 and Philadelphia downed Houston 5-2.

PERFECT DAY FOR MAYS

Mays had a perfect day at the plate, with his sixth homer, two singles and a walk in support of Billy O'Dell, who won his fifth without a loss. O'Dell was tagged for home runs by Cliff Cook, Ron Hunt and Chico Fernandez and needed Gaylord Perry's relief help to subdue the Mets. It was the Giants third straight victory at home, and shoved them over the 500 mark in Candlestick Park with a 9-8 record.

Ernie Banks' run-producing single in the seventh inning gave the Cubs the only run they needed to break up a pitchers' duel between winner Larry Jackson, who permitted only six hits while bringing his record to 5-4, and Reds' starter Jim O'Toole, 6-3. Billy Williams drove in the other run with a single in the eighth after Lou Brock doubled.

PHILS SLIT MASTERS

The big blow for the Braves was a three-run homer by Eddie Mathews in the first inning that capped a four-run outburst against Cards' starter Ray Washburn, losing his third after winning his first five. Denny Lemaster got the victory, but lost his bid for a shutout when Stan Musial and Gene Oliver each homered in the ninth.

Don Demeter and Tony Gonzalez each drove in two runs. Tony Taylor collected three hits and batting leader Wes Covington chipped in with a double and a single for a .372 batting average as the Phils continued their mastery over the Colts. The victory was the Phils' 21st in 23 games against Houston since the Colts joined the NL last year. Ray Culp, 4-2, was the winner. Dick Drott took the loss.

Phillies Defeat Colts 21st Time

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies' hold on the Houston Colt 45s seemed tight as ever today as a result of their 21st victory over the Texans.

The Phillies defeated Houston 5-2 Thursday night. The Phillies have lost only two games in two years to the Texas team.

Phillies pitcher Ray Culp held the Colt 45s to just five hits before being replaced in the seventh inning by Jack Baldschun. Baldschun gave up just one hit the rest of the way.

Don Demeter was the big bat man for the Phillies, slapping a two-run home run and a single. Tony Taylor had a double and two singles and Wes Covington, the National League's leading batter, had a double and a single for the Phillies.

The Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction is giving wide publication throughout the state schools to the following statement it received from the Pennsylvania State Police:

"Heartbreaking reports of teen-agers killed enroute to and from parties and dances prompted the Legislature to amend the Vehicle Code, restricting those operators with Junior Operator's Licenses from driving between the hours of 12 midnight and 5 a.m.

"Graduation time with its accompanying parties and dances will soon be here. Pennsylvania State Police men an patrol will be alerted to the problems these events may incur in an effort to prevent careless and reckless operation of student-driven cars.

"The mark of distinction in driving is not an operator's license or a certificate for completion of a driver education course; it is how you drive and the example you set.

"Much publicity is being given to the number of accidents in which teen-agers are involved. These accidents would not occur if the young drivers would practice their own 'Code of Ethics for Youthful Drivers.'

"Splendid cooperation has been demonstrated by community organizations and those involved in formulating plans for graduation exercises, parties and dances. These plans must also include safe transportation to and from these graduation affairs."

Today Is 9th Anniversary Of Decision On Integration

EDITOR'S NOTE—Today is the ninth anniversary of a landmark legal decision, an action ranking in historic importance beside the Dred Scott decision. On May 17, 1954, the U.S. Supreme Court held that segregation in the public schools is unconstitutional. It ordered desegregation "with all deliberate speed." The repercussions have been wide and deep, felt in the North as well as the South, and are linked with Negro demands for change in fields other than the schools.

Reiman Morin, Associated Press Special Correspondent and Pulitzer Prize winner, reported the civil rights trial of the "Clinton 15" in Tennessee, the riots at Little Rock, Ark., and Oxford, Miss., and most recently the events at Birmingham, Ala. In this report, he summarizes nine years of developments stemming from the historic Supreme Court ruling.

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

At noon, May 17, 1954, the United States Supreme Court outlawed racial segregation in the public schools, striking at the foundations of a century-old social barrier, and opening a new sector in the battle over civil rights.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, reading the 9-0 decision, intoned the key passage:

"In the field of public education, the doctrine of 'separate but equal' has no place. Separate educational facilities are inherently unequal.

"We come then to the question presented: Does segregation of children in public schools solely on the basis of race, even though physical facilities and other 'tangible' factors may be equal, deprive the children of the minority group of equal opportunity? We believe that it does."

DESEGREGATION GAINS

Nine years ago today the ruling became history.

The ninth anniversary comes against a backdrop of dangerous racial strife in Birmingham, Ala., disturbances in Nashville, Tenn. and Negro sympathy demonstrations in a number of Northern cities.

When the court handed down the decision, segregation was mandatory in 17 Southern and border states and the District of Columbia.

Today, desegregation of elementary and high schools, in varying degrees, has taken place in all but three states—Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina.

HISTORY-PACKED YEARS

In the 8 areas, 257,628 Negro children are enrolled in previously all-white schools.

The District of Columbia, with 87,749, and Maryland, with 62,121, account for about half the total Negro children in desegregated schools.

The statistics were compiled by the Southern Education Reporting Service, which describes itself as an "impartial fact-finding agency directed by a board of Southern newspaper editors and educators under grant from the Ford Foundation."

Nine thunderous, history-packed years.

INDELIBLE NAMES

Many names are indelibly printed in these pages now.

Audrine Lucy, enrolling in the University of Alabama, and then, concealed on the floor of a highway patrol car, escaping a mob yelling "Lynch her! Kill her!"

Virgil Hawkins, fighting for years to enter the law school of the University of Florida.

Gov. Orval W. Faubus, ringing a high school in Little Rock with Arkansas National Guardsmen when a federal court ordered authorities to admit eight Negro children.

James H. Meredith, the object of riots at the University of Mississippi in which two men were killed.

UNFORGETTABLE SCENES

Many names.

And many unforgettable scenes. Exploding dynamite. Gunfire. Flashing knives. Rolling clouds of tear-gas. Burning buildings. Men's faces streaming blood. Women's faces working with hatred. Federal troops in Southern cities.

But there is another side to the picture.

In St. Louis, Baltimore and Wilmington, Del., integration was accomplished successfully although the proportion of Negroes ranged between 30 and 40 per cent of the total school enrollment.

In Louisville, Ky., city authorities worked quietly for two full years, preparing the community for desegregation—and then did it in one swift move, without incident.

ACTION VS. VIOLENCE

In Tennessee, an all-white jury convicted seven persons of obstructing justice in the integration of Clinton High School. (Later, the school was dynamited.)

Where authorities acted decisively, violence generally failed to halt integration. Lawyers then sought subtler methods of delaying the process or blocking it entirely.

"Pupil placement" was devised to give legal sanction to assignment of Negroes and whites to different schools. "Interposition" surfaced. This is the argument that the state is a partner with the federal government and has the right to "interpose" if, in its been supported by law for more than 100 years.

ECHO OF RECONSTRUCTION

Like an echo of the reconstruction era, Southerners angrily charged that "the North is trying to jam integration down our throats."

In the nine years since the court decision, there have been many ramifications in the broad and difficult field of race relations.

The Birmingham struggle, for example, is over Negro demands for desegregation of lunch counters and fitting rooms in the stores, for improved conditions of employment, etc.

In some Southern cities, Negroes deposed "Jim Crow," the rule that required him to sit in the back of the buses.

POWER IS GROWING

In others, they demonstrated for the right to use swimming pools, libraries, museums. They learned the power of the economic boy-

UNEASY QUIET REPORTED IN BIRMINGHAM

By JACK STILLMAN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The federal government shows signs of relaxing its vigil in Birmingham's cott. They used non-violent methods, "sit-ins" and "kneel-ins" to dramatize and enforce their demands.

With the help of federal courts, they are fighting discriminatory practices with regard to registration for voting. And in regions where they have been prevented, or discouraged, from voting, their leaders are carrying out registration drives. Their political power is growing in the South.

racial situation and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's adviser on civil rights has returned to Washington.

Sheriff Melvin Bailey said, however, the authorities are apprehensive about the weekend. A 24-hour guard has been posted throughout the area of last week's rioting. About 200 heavily armed state patrolmen and conservation department officers are patrolling a 24-square block area.

"It's an uneasy quiet," Bailey said. "The weekend will cause more concern. It will be a critical period."

DEPENDS ON PEOPLE

Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, who went back to Washington Thursday, said he has no plans to return to this racially troubled city immediately. He said he believes the situation will be calmed through the cooperation of Birmingham people. Marshall was accompanied by an aide, Ed Guthman.

A deputy attorney general, Joseph Dolan, remained in Birmingham.

About 3,000 riot-trained soldiers are standing by at bases in Alabama, where they were ordered by President Kennedy after bloody rioting in Birmingham last weekend.

Alabama's fiery segregationist governor, George C. Wallace, who challenged the President's right to send in the troops, may meet Kennedy in North Alabama Saturday. Wallace hasn't committed himself, but sources close to the governor say he is expected to be on hand when the President takes part in a Tennessee Valley Authority observance.

After going hitless in his first four trips against the Chicago White Sox this spring, Boston's Carl Yastrzemski made six hits in 10 efforts against Chicago pitchers in a double header the following day.

BUMS WIN IN NINTH AGAIN

By CHARLES MAHER

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After what happened to them in the final National League playoff game of 1962, the Los Angeles Dodgers might readily be excused for developing a ninth-inning neurosis.

Going into the last inning of that one, you'll recall, the Dodgers were leading the San Francisco Giants 4-2. Three outs later the Giants were leading 6-4 and the Dodgers had blown the pennant. Given a full winter for reflection, the Dodgers replayed that last inning a thousand times without ever quite managing to bring it to a happier conclusion.

This season, however, they have eased their frustration considerably by contriving to change quite a few endings in their last time at bat.

In seven of the 19 games they've won this year, the Dodgers have scored the winning run in the last inning.

They did it again Thursday night, when Johnny Roseboro's two-out single in the ninth inning scored Jim Gilliam and produced a 1-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Gilliam, on a 12-game hitting streak, also scored the winning run against Philadelphia Wednesday night on a 12th-inning single by Ron Fairly.

The Baltimore Orioles won their first three games this season and each time they faced southpaw pitchers. They lost their next two against Yankee right handers Ralph Terry and Stan Williams.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

EXILES: A Senate Judiciary subcommittee plans hearings next week on the administration's policy toward Cuban refugees who have fled to the United States.

The spotlight will be on the exile community in Miami when two days of hearings open Wednesday with questioning of Edwin Martin, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

"Disassociation from Miro Cardona's Revolutionary Council and the prevention of further raids indicate an obvious change in our policy toward the exile community," Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Thursday.

"Secretary Martin should be able to clarify the situation for us," Hart added.

SMALL BUSINESS: President Kennedy says his tax proposals would be especially beneficial to small business.

Speaking Thursday at the White House to the National Small Business Advisory Council, Kennedy said small business should be improved and expanded.

He added that he doesn't "want control of the economy in the hands of government or large groups."

NOT IN ORBIT: Asst. Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey wishes the Senate could learn a lesson from astronaut Gordon Cooper.

"Major Cooper goes around the earth every 88 minutes and it takes us longer than that to dispose of one amendment in this debate," the Minnesota told his colleagues Thursday.

He spoke amid Senate consideration of the administration's feed grains bill.

Cooper

after 560,000 miles of smooth sailing.

TENSION ON SHIP

The Kearsarge, where a happy outlook had turned to tension, sent up her search and rescue planes. Imperturbably, Cooper fired his rockets as he soared over the Red China coast near Shanghai. Soon the Kearsarge radar scope located an object 84 miles high, out of sight above thin clouds.

The waiting men aboard the Kearsarge and two destroyers on station shortly heard the reverberating thunderclap of a sonic boom.

A rainbow-like halo glowed around the sun. The Faith 7 popped into view almost dead ahead, dangling gently from its 63-foot red and white striped parachute. The crew shouted gaily.

ROCKET SCORCHED

Scorched by its fall through the atmosphere but solid and intact, it plumped into the 5-foot waves. First official estimates put it a mere 7,000 yards off the port bow, but it finally was fixed at 4.4 nautical miles, 8,200 yards. "I'm in fine shape," Cooper radioed. He had been aloft 34 hours, 20-1/2 minutes.

Helicopter 31 dropped frogmen who affixed flotation gear to the capsule. A whaleboat smartly towed it alongside and a crane lifted it onto the hangar deck's elevator No. 3.

WAS 'GIDDY'

Cooper blew off the hatch and Dr. Richard L. Pollard of the space agency crawled in and took his blood pressure.

Cooper crawled out backward, smiling but evidently giddy. Dr. Pollard and Dr. Charles W. Upp helped him walk along a strip of red canvas, lined with white guide ropes and Marines in dress blues. Cooper said nothing, but waved and smiled while a band played.

A little later in the ship's sick bay for examination, he said, "I agree with the other fellows. Wow! Faith 7 did well. I had a few little problems but nothing major."

RECEIVES CALL

In quick succession then he received telephone calls from President Kennedy, Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Zuckert, and his wife, Trudy, back home in Houston, Tex.

"I want to congratulate you very much," the President said. "The country is very proud of you."

"Thank you very much, sir," Cooper replied.

"I enjoyed it very much."

Many congratulatory radio-grams poured in from public officials. The Senate passed an official resolution of congratulations. Kennedy invited the new space hero and his family to the White

MEDICAL EXAM

Cooper then underwent a two-hour preliminary medical examination before being permitted to retire to the admiral's inboard cabin.

Cooper's last flight is expected to be the last of the Mercury series. Brainerd Holmes, director of Manned Space Flight, said there was less than a 50 per cent chance that there would be another.

The next step is the Gemini program—two men in one vehicle—at least 18 months in the future. The next step after Gemini is a manned landing on the moon, predicted in this decade.

"HUMAN COMPUTER"

Cooper, affectionately nicknamed "Gordo" after a cartoon character, "acted effectively as a human computer," Holmes said.

The "computer" will have a more human interlude a day from now.

On midday Saturday he will fly from this ship to Hickam Air Force Base, Honolulu, where wife Trudy and daughters Camala and Janita will be awaiting him. It was in Honolulu, as a student at the University of Hawaii, that Cooper met Trudy in 1946.

After a parade, a civic reception and a visit with the Hawaii governor, John A. Burns, he and his family will depart by jet for his starting point, Cape Canaveral, at 1:30 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Sunday.

Countians Serve On Rescue Team

John P. Carroll, radioman second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Carroll, Abbotstown R. 1, is serving aboard the minesweeper USS Opportune, which took part in the Pacific recovery of Astronaut Gordon Cooper after his 22-orbit flight around the earth.

The men were aboard 15 ships which patrolled six predetermined areas around Bermuda, the Eastern Atlantic, the Canary Islands, the Pacific, and elsewhere for the flight. The ships were supported by Navy carrier-based aircraft and Air Force land-based planes. A special world-spanning communications network linked the Atlantic force with the Pacific recovery force and with Cape Canaveral, Fla., headquarters for the space shot.

Marshall B. Unger, shipfitter first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Unger, Aspers, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Corry which also was part of the recovery team of Cooper.

SEEK DATA ON SMALL FIRMS

Small businesses in Adams County will have the opportunity to register their productive facilities with the facilities inventory of the Small Business Administration, Edward N. Rosa, regional director of SBA's Philadelphia office, announced today.

Registration forms have been mailed to small manufacturers, service and construction firms, and research and development companies in the county. Rosa urged businessmen to fill in and return the forms promptly, so that they may take advantage of the benefits of the facilities listing. Firms not receiving forms may obtain them upon request at the Philadelphia office, 1015 Chestnut St.

The SBA facilities inventory is a nation-wide listing of small businesses and their productive facilities. It serves as a reference source for government purchasing agencies which award prime contracts, and provides information to prime contractors on small firms equipped to handle subcontracts. The list would also provide valuable data on small business capabilities in case of a national emergency.

The facilities inventory is one means by which SBA encourages small producers to enter the government contracting and subcontracting field. During fiscal year 1962, the agency, in cooperation agencies, also set aside $2 billion on Federal contracts for exclusive competitive bidding by small concerns.

Living costs represent 80 per cent of the present budget at public colleges and about 65 per cent in private ones.

JURISDICTION FOR WAGE ACT IS DISPUTED

HARRISBURG (AP)—A deputy attorney general has challenged the jurisdiction of Commonwealth Court in cases involving the constitutionality of Pennsylvania's controversial prevailing wage act.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Raymond Kleiman argued Thursday that jurisdiction lies only with the state Supreme Court.

"There is ample judicial precedent, that where a statute provides that the determination of a administrative tribunal is final, the only remedy available to an aggrieved party... is to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania," Kleiman declared.

HOURS OF ARGUMENT

The dispute over jurisdiction sparked some four hours of argument for and against three suits challenging the constitutionality of the 1961 prevailing wage law.

The suits were filed last December by the Hempfield Union School District, the Keystone Chapter of Associated Builders and Contractors Inc., and Samuel Long, a contractor, all of Lancaster County.

All three plaintiffs were represented by Attorney Herbert Rotherberg of Lancaster. Attorney Joseph Nisley of Harrisburg, assisted as counsel for some 200 intervening boroughs and municipalities.

EFFECTIVE LAST YEAR

Each charged that the act constitutes a regulation of labor in violation of the state constitution, and rebutted state allegations that they have no right to file suit.

Kleiman argued, that if Commonwealth Court accepts jurisdiction in the case, the suits should be dismissed on grounds the act is constitutional and the plaintiffs have no legal authority to sue.

The prevailing wage act went into effect last year authorizing the state labor and industry secretary to determine hourly wage rates for workers on public projects which cost more than $2,000. The law further requires that the wages be representative of prevailing rates in the locality where the projects are.

ROBINSON IS ON A 13-GAME HITTING STREAK

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP)—Third baseman Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles, who has few peers as a fielder, is slowly emerging as one of the better hitters in the American League.

The slick glove artist, who will be 26 Saturday, currently is on a 13-game hitting streak which has raised his batting average from .270 to .320.

Robinson's hot streak, during which he has hit .389 with 21 hits in 54 trips, coincides with Baltimore's 9-4 winning surge which has put the Orioles just one game back of the league lead.

TOP ORIOLES

Robby tops the Orioles in average, base hits (41), doubles (7), and runs batted in (20). Meanwhile, of course, he has fielded in the near flawless manner which Oriole fans have come to expect.

Thursday night Robinson collected three hits and knocked in four runs as the Orioles drubbed the Washington Senators 9-1. The four RBI gave Robinson 16 for the last 13 games.

Since he was signed by Baltimore at the age of 18, Brooks has played the equivalent of about two full seasons in the minor leagues. As a result, his battle to become a good hitter has not been easy.

But he has batted .287 or better the past three seasons and knocked in 235 runs. Last year was his best at the plate, with 23 homers, 86 runs batted in and an average of .303.

Mrs. E. Kennedy Loses Her Baby

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Edward M. Kennedy, wife of the Massachusetts senator, was resting at home today after losing her expected baby by miscarriage.

Joan Bennett Kennedy, 26, suffered the miscarriage on Tuesday, but it was not confirmed until Thursday by the senator's office.

The senator, 30, brother of President Kennedy, and his blonde wife have two other children, Kara, 3, and Edward M. Jr., who will be 2 in September.

Their third child had been expected in late August or early September.

A spokesman for Sen. Kennedy's office said they would have no further comment other than that Mrs. Kennedy was resting very comfortably at her home in Georgetown, a residential section of Washington.

For sophisticated taste, add slivers of syrup-preserved ginger to chocolate sauce and serve over vanilla ice cream. If the syrup-preserved ginger isn't available, use the kind that comes in packages and wash off its coating of granulated sugar under hot water. The water will soften the ginger and make it easy for you to cut into thin strands. But remember that a little ginger goes a long way, so add with a light hand.

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—It made sense to Miss Isabelle Penny, but not to architect Gordon Wiedenicker, who worked with his office staff gathering 35,848 of the lady's "namesakes" off the floor.

Miss Penny, 60, lost a court judgment of $338.48 to Wiedenicker Thursday despite her contention that she didn't owe the architect anything for building plans, because she didn't use them.

Miss Penny paid with seven bags of pennies which were dumped on the floor.

BRAVES TAKE 3 FROM CARDS WITH LEFTIES

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan rates his southpaw pitching corps the best in the National League and the St. Louis Cardinals reluctantly agree he has a good argument.

Bragan called on left-handers Warren Spahn, Bob Hendley and Denny Lemaster in a three-game series with the Cards. All three came through in fine fashion, going the distance for victories as the Braves broke out of a slump of nine losses in 10 previous games.

The 42-year-old Spahn edged the Cards 4-3 for his fifth victory of the season Tuesday and the 24-year-old Hendley hurled hitless ball for 8 1/3 innings 24 hours later in a 9-3 triumph, his fourth of the year. Lemaster, also 24, completed the series sweep with a 5-2 decision Thursday.

ONLY ONE SPAHN
Bragan said that Spahn, Hendley, Lemaster and Dan Schneider, a $100,000 bonus hurler signed off the University of Arizona campus last spring, give the Braves the best left-handed pitching in the league. And the Milwaukee skipper didn't overlook the Los Angeles Dodgers' crew of Sandy Koufax, Johnny Podres, Pete Richert and Ron Perranoski.

"There's only one Spahn," Bragan said. "In Hendley and Lemaster we've got two future stars and don't sell the kid Schneider short. He hasn't had more than a half a year of professional ball and he looks ready."

"We have three left-handed starters and so do the Dodgers. However, Richert, their third southpaw, starts only in spots and I wouldn't say he was as far along as Lemaster."

2 FIRE PAR IN GOLF TOURNEY
By BOB HARING
MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP)—A couple of long-hitting money winners led the way into today's second round of the $8,000 Muskogee Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Both Mickey Wright, last year's leading money winner, and Mary Lena Faulk, third in earnings in 1962, carded par 70s in Thursday's first round, but they did it in different ways.

Miss Faulk, in her eighth season as a pro, went one under par on the second hole and stayed there until the 13th when a bogey put her even. Miss Wright finished the front nine one over par, then racked up three birdies on the back nine.

Miss Wright, a pro for nine years, was one under par until the 18th and seemed a cinch to take the lead. But she three-putted something she blamed on being over-cautious—for a tie.

Young Sandra Haynie, in her third year as a pro, used a back nine par to gain a 73, the second best score of the day. Barbara Romack also was helped by a strong second nine in posting a 74.

Haiti Loses Her Fourth Neighbor
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Haiti was isolated from a fourth Caribbean neighbor today as Costa Rica broke diplomatic relations, charging that Dictator Francois Duvalier's stay in power amounts to a coup d'etat.

Venezuela broke with Haiti Tuesday on similar grounds. Duvalier severed relations with the Dominican Republic April 28 in a dispute over political asylum that nearly triggered a war between the two adjoining countries.

Haiti also has no diplomatic relations with Cuba.

MOSKOW (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro returned to Moscow today from a 10-day tour of the Soviet Union.

Mikhail A. Suslov, secretary of the Soviet Communist Party's central committee, headed a delegation of officials and Cuban diplomats who welcomed Castro back.

It is not known how much longer Castro will remain in the Soviet Union.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—President John F. Kennedy will deliver the commencement address and receive an honorary degree at San Diego State College on June 6.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said he confirmed the arrangements in a telephone conversation with the president Thursday.

A meeting of the lot holders will be held Tuesday, June 11, 1963, at 4 P.M., D.S.T., at the office of Eugene R. Hartman, 126 Baltimore St., Gettysburg, Pa., for the purpose of electing a president and seven members of the Evergreen Cemetery.

Hollywood Rink Destroyed By Fire

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ice skaters around the world knew the old Polar Palace. It was a Hollywood landmark.

Workmen finished remodeling it recently. The Pacific skating championships were to have been held there at the end of the year.

But early Thursday, a fire broke out in its coffee shop. It blazed through the structure, threatening a movie sound stage next door.

Sixteen fire companies battled the flames. They didn't have much luck. The building was gutted. Firemen estimated the loss at $300,000.

AUTOMATION AGAIN
TORONTO (AP)—The days when kids stay after school to curry favor with teacher by banging the chalk out of the blackboard erasers soon will be over in Toronto.

A committee of the Board of Education Thursday approved spending $3,967 for 114 electric eraser cleaners. Janitors will operate them.

BUSY PROGRAM FACES FAMILY OF ASTRONAUT

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The anxious watching and waiting have ended for astronaut Gordon Cooper's proud family but busy days are ahead for Trudy Cooper and her teen-age daughters.

Mrs. Cooper and the girls, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, were to fly to Hawaii today for a rendezvous with America's newest space hero.

On Monday they will accompany Cooper to Washington to be received in the White House Rose Garden by President Kennedy after, perhaps, a parade down Pennsylvania Avenue.

Mrs. Cooper, Cam and Jan held a brief news conference Thursday night 20 minutes after Cooper was safely aboard the USS Kearsarge after his historic 22-orbit flight.

COOPER CALLS
The conference broke up when word came Cooper was waiting to talk to his wife and daughters by radio-telephone from the Kearsarge.

Details of the conversations were not revealed but Mrs. Cooper sent this message to the newsmen: "It was a good connection."

"We are a very proud family tonight," Mrs. Cooper said after walking from the brick and stone house where she and the girls had remained throughout the flight.

She thanked newsmen for their "patience the past two days."

Some 300 persons were on hand when the family appeared before newsmen and photographers who had waited in the street in front of the house more than 34 hours.

"I felt very calm and confident," Mrs. Cooper said when asked how she reacted to news of a malfunction aboard the Faith 7 had forced her husband to use hand controls while preparing for the capsule's splash in the Pacific.

DEATH

George S. Strasbaugh

George S. Strasbaugh, 81, Hanover R. 3, died at the Hanover General Hospital Wednesday at 9:50 a.m. a few hours after admission.

He was a son of the late Peter and Sarah Markle Strasbaugh. He was the husband of Lucy Altland Strasbaugh, who died March 12. Mr. Strasbaugh was a member of Trinity (Roth's) United Church of Christ.

Surviving are three children, David V. Strasbaugh and Miss Amy Strasbaugh, Hanover R. 3, and Mrs. Bernard Cunningham, York; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren; a brother, the Rev. Ralph A. Strasbaugh, Shiremanstown; a sister, Mrs. Anna Gotwalt, Spring Grove; two stepbrothers, Jesse Stumpf, York, and Howard Stumpf, East Berlin R. 1, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Sauter Funeral Home, Spring Grove. Due to the illness of his pastor, the Rev. Charles E. Strasbaugh, the services will be conducted by the Rev. Franklin F. Glassmoyer, pastor of Leschey's United Church of Christ. Burial will be in Roth's Church Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock.

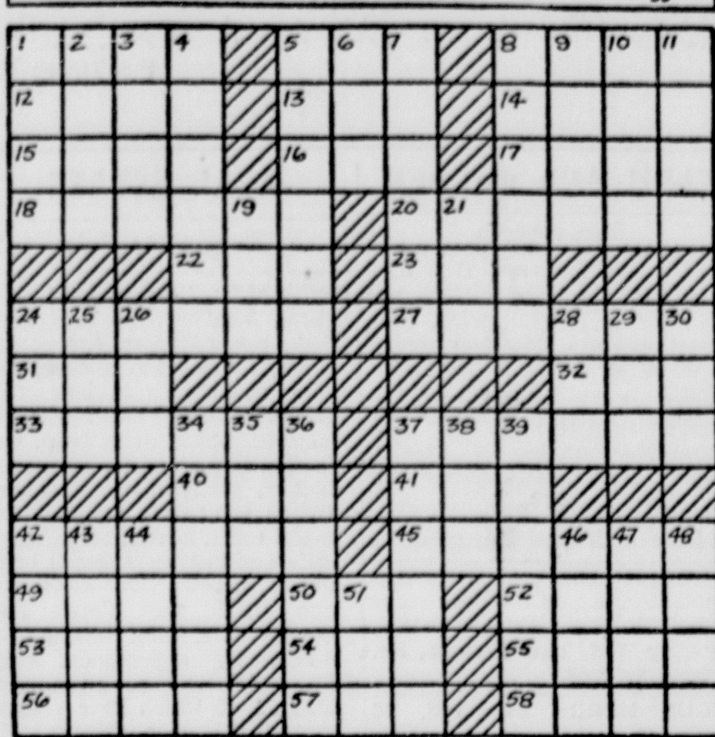

Mrs. Cooper and the girls had watched the recovery on one of the four television sets in the house. With them were the wives of four other astronauts—Donald K. Slayton, Virgil I. Grissom, Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Alan B. Shepard Jr.

Cam and Jan, standing on each side of their mother, denied they had been nervous during the flight.

Asked at what point of the flight was she the most nervous, Mrs. Cooper replied:

"I think the launch is the time when everyone is the most apprehensive."

Letter To The Editor

Wednesday, May 15, 1963
Mr. Paul Roy, Editor
The Gettysburg Times
Carlisle St.
Gettysburg, Penna.

Dear Mr. Roy,
Monday evening May 13, there appeared in the Gettysburg Times a news release that demands some clarification. It only demands it because it is concerning a public issue and on the main points of the article there are things reported that are not factual in nature.

Regarding sewage in the Fairfield Borough and the new addition to the Fairfield School, let me say, as an interested party as well as a school director, the school is in no way bound by what the borough may decide but it stands to reason that the State Health Department will not stand for two sewage plants for an area as small as Fairfield. True, the school is proceeding with its plans for its own disposal plant, but if and when the borough does anything about a disposal plant, there is the possibility of working something out that will be in agreement with the school board, town council and the State Health Department. All of this will be done with the taxpayer in mind and in his best interest. Suffice to say at this point, the school board has always done a good job of administering the jointure and has done so at a tax rate considerably lower than most other districts in Adams County. There is no reason to think this prudence will not be continued to everyone's concern and interest.

The other item was that of the time schedule in relation to the construction job. I talked today with Harold Blair, supervising principal of the district, and he reported to me personally the outcome of an Architect, Contractor, Property Committee meeting—held last Thursday, May 9th. At this meeting, contrary to what was reported in The Times by Mr. Luntz, the building program is from three days to two weeks behind schedule. This is a result of a late start because of bad

ABOARD USS Kearsarge (AP)
—A prayer to God, who has "His hand upon our lives," went up from this great carrier when astronaut Gordon Cooper came back safely from the sky.

Speaking over the ship's loudspeaker, a Protestant chaplain, Lt. Cmdr. Benjamin C. Fairchild, prayed:

"Our prayer of thanksgiving weather and presently some drainage problems in some of the land on which the building is being built. The contractor reported that the delays were not serious and he readily expected to be on schedule in a short time. However, the article as it appeared in the paper is not correct and leaves much to be desired from the standpoint of accuracy, newsworthiness, and the other high criteria by which you generally judge releases for the paper.

I want to call this to your attention because I know you are also concerned that such discrepancies in news reporting be avoided or corrected whenever possible.

Thank you for your continued interest and support.
Sincerely,
Otto Kroeger, Pastor

joins those of Mrs. Cooper and the girls (Cooper's two daughters). The waiting is over and the moment of reunion is not very far away. Something of them went with him. And with his safe return their hopes and prayers have been answered."

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—Cal Huss, one of thousands of scientists who worked on the space mission of Gordon Cooper, received a message of appreciation today.

It read: "Looks like you did a fine job on the calculation for retro weight. You must have even figured in that one second," signed Gordon Cooper."

Huss, flight dynamics officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, played a major role in figuring out when Cooper should fire his retro or reverse rockets to bring him out of orbit. He said he decided that one second should be added to the normal 30 second countdown.

That second, at the speed Cooper's Faith 7 was traveling, meant that the spacecraft landed about five miles closer to the recovery ship Kearsarge than it would have otherwise.

NEW YORK (AP)—Timeclock: 1927 Charles A. Lindbergh—solo Long Island to Paris—3,610 miles—33 hours, 29 minutes, 30 seconds.
1963—Gordon Cooper—22 solo orbits—600,000 miles—34 hours, 20 minutes, 30 seconds.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)
—Gordon Cooper paid 25 cents for his long, high ride through space. When Cooper was named pilot for the 22-orbit mission, Guenter Wendt, the top technician on Pad 14 for McDonnell Aircraft Corp., gave him a hand-lettered card encased in plastic.

It read: "You are the winner of our 'around the world' contest. Present this ticket and 25 cents at Pad No. 14 at your convenience for the 'ride of your life,' G. F. Wendt, proprietor."

Tuesday, when he arrived at Pad 14, Cooper gave Wendt a polished square of wood on which was mounted a quarter and an engraved plate saying:

"To the proprietor of Pad 14, Guenter Wendt, the fare for 'the ride of my life,' Gordo Cooper."

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Coloradoans, headed by Gov. John A. Love, are planning a rousing welcome home for astronaut Gordon Cooper.

Cooper and his mother, Hattie, own a ranch near Carbondale, about 170 miles west of Denver.

OLD TV SHOWS MAY BE SEEN IN ART MUSEUM

By ANDREW MEISELS

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember that television show you missed on Monday evening 10 years ago? If you happen to be in New York, you may be able to see it now.

The Museum of Modern Art is currently showing a series of 54 films of old television programs originally broadcast in the years 1949-61, including drama, variety, news, special events and even commercials.

"Television is a phase of modern art," explains Richard Griffith, curator of the museum's massive film library. "The motion picture is the first new art form in thousands of years, and television is a new phase of the motion picture."

SHOW FILMS

The museum — a suitably modern glass-fronted structure on 53rd St. — has been showing films twice daily for more than 20 years. Additionally, it lends its films to educational institutions across the country.

These films come from a library that is the largest of its kind in the United States, consisting of several thousand negatives and prints that total 12 million feet. They cover a time span from the very beginning of the motion picture to the present.

The earliest motion picture in the collection — and perhaps the earliest ever made — is "The Execution of Mary Queen of Scots," a minute and a half long spectacular of its day.

This film, produced by Thomas A. Edison in Menlo Park, N. J., in 1892, shows poor Mary getting her head chopped off. Happily, it was done with trick photography.

Other films in the library include such early silent classics as D.

W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation" and the vehicles of matinee idols like Rudolph Valentino and of such heroines as Blanche Sweet (if you've seen her work, you're getting on).

Anyone can go to the museum and see the program being shown, at 3 and 5:30 p.m. daily. Admission is free but there is a $1 entrance fee to the museum for nonmembers. The film programs vary, currently being devoted to television.

BEGAN IN 1935

The film library began in 1935, when English novelist Iris Barry interested the museum's trustees in its founding. Chief emphasis was to be on making films of historical or artistic interest available to educational institutions.

A form letter, soliciting interest and support, arrived at Haverford, Pa., College and was turned over to a senior known as "the leading film nut on the campus" — Richard Griffith.

"I dropped all my plans for final exams," Griffith recalls, "and organized the Film Society of Haverford and Bryn Mawr Colleges — 600 strong. I sent Miss Barry a long list of films, plus money for our dues to pay for them.

"There was only one catch," Griffith continues. "At the time, there was no film library. So, Miss Barry scoured New York, found an ancient print of 'The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari' (German — 1919), and drove to Haverford with it for our first show. That started the library."

Griffith became assistant to Miss Barry in 1940 and became curator on Miss Barry's retirement in 1951.

pion said in an interview Thursday that sports writers magnified the Palmer image and made him out to be a greater golfer than he really is.

Commenting on Palmer's present difficulties, Jones said:

"I read where Palmer is bothered by the pressure of business interests, and I imagine that could be a problem. But I have an idea he will get straightened out soon. If he should become sharp again, he will win his share. But I doubt that he will dominate the game."

"Palmer is a wonderful player and a fine person . . . I admired his courage in the Masters Tournament this year . . . I thought it was a tribute to the fellow that he could play so badly and still finish as high as he did. It showed real class."

He added, "I don't believe Palmer will ever beat Nicklaus with any consistency. And it could be that neither of them will dominate the game. There are too many good players. Tony Lema isn't very far behind either of them." Jones was interviewed by Jack Williams, assistant sports editor of the Atlanta Constitution.

Scott Creelman, Dartmouth football captain, has played in 26 consecutive winning football games.

SAYS PALMER WON'T TOP GOLF

ATLANTA (AP)—Arnold Palmer will emerge from his current slump but he won't dominate golf and he won't beat Jack Nicklaus with any consistency, Bobby Jones predicts.

Golfing's only grand slam champion said in an interview Thursday that sports writers magnified the Palmer image and made him out to be a greater golfer than he really is.

TEACHERS CAN CURE 'CHEATS,' EXPERT SAYS

By JOY MILLER
NEW YORK (AP) — "When in doubt, cheat!"

That may never replace "Think" as a motto suitable for wall hanging, but a lot of parents and educators fear it's becoming an increasingly popular dictum for survival at exam time.

As adult heads shake over youngsters' cribbing because it's immoral, at least one psychologist deprecates it for a different reason.

Cheating is bad for their little psyches, holds Sophie Ritholz, author of "Children's Behavior."

REDUCES CONFIDENCE
Miss Ritholz, who studied with Sigmund Freud in Vienna and London, says: "Cheating reduces an individual's self confidence. It induces a feeling of unworthiness. If we don't meet our own standards we have reduced our stature in our own eyes."

"The child who feels he's pulled a fast one and is full of bravado about his cheating inwardly is ashamed. As for the state of his mental health, he's worse off than the kid who can admit he's a dope in a certain subject but doesn't resort to cheating."

Sometimes a youngster can hide his feelings of shame and inferiority even from himself, says Miss Ritholz, and when he does that he's in a pretty sorry state emotionally.

ACT OF DESPERATION

But Miss Ritholz, who has a soft spot in her heart for children, hates to believe that very many little ones go into class prepared to cheat. She argues:

"Most of them don't really want to. It's an act of desperation. They find they don't know how to answer the questions and if someone throws them a lifeline they grab it."

Preferring to extend a helping hand rather than point a finger, Miss Ritholz has come up with some suggestions for curing cheating:

1. More patience in teaching. "If the world can be a 'blooming, buzzing confusion' to the newborn babe, it can be more than that to the child who is confronted with a new type of arithmetic, for example. The child who is simply not adept at arithmetic, or who is a little slower, may find himself in despair and cheat out of sheer desperation."

MORE IMAGINATION

2. More imagination in teaching. "For example, changing an abstraction, such as fractions, into something concrete, such as apples or potatoes, can help a child understand the subject."

3. More empathy for the handicapped. "The child hard of hearing or with poor vision is in a way worse off than the totally disabled, for whom special schools and classes are maintained. If the teacher would only stand where the child with poor vision can see best, or spend a few extra minutes with the child who can't hear everything."

4. A happy medium in standards. "Some teachers are too lenient — until examination time comes around. Suddenly the students find themselves confronted by a stern pedagogue and an exacting type of exam."

5. A more realistic view of cheating. "The honor system should be discarded. Only the honorable students observe it. This is not to say that most are dishonest, but with the fierce competition for good grades the cheaters cheat not only themselves but the honorable ones as well. When the curve system is used — in which grades are compared relatively with each other — the cheating student may receive a higher grade than he deserves and possibly push the honorable student's grade down on the curve, even perhaps to failing level."

BREATHING SPACE

6. More breathing space for children. "He should be allowed to develop his potentialities with a certain amount of privacy — from his parents. Children seem subject to an inordinate amount of prodding and probing and manipulation by adults these days."

7. Better examples set by adults. "The very parent who would be horrified at his child's cheating might laughingly relate how he used a slug for a parking meter or thought up some clever income tax evasion. What effect does this have on the listening child, who, according to my studies, is more greatly influenced by his parents than even by his teacher?"

8. Less panic about entering college. "There's terrific competition now for high grades to gain admittance to the 'best' colleges. But the early years of adolescence are difficult ones: grades often slump in the second year of high school, then rise again. Some potentially brilliant teenagers may be lacking in motivation during some of that time. Parental pressure is not going to help the situation. Besides, there are still many good small colleges with empty seats. Ease up, everybody."

2 Pa. Employees Killed In Crash

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two state employees were killed and another man injured Thursday in the collision of a highways department dump truck and a tractor trailer on Route 22, some 10 miles east of here.

Killed were Larry L. Bretz, 25, of Bressler, near Steelton, and George W. Newell, 42, of Grantville R. 1, driver of the highways truck.

John Hannahan, 39, of Lake Hiawatha, N.J., was treated for minor injuries at Harrisburg Hospital, then released. State police said Hannahan's tractor trailer apparently crashed into the rear of the dump truck.

RED LEADERS SURPRISED BY GAINS IN ITALY

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP)—In Rome's "street of the dark shops," where Italy's Communist party has headquarters, it is no dark secret that the Red leaders were surprised at the million votes their party gained in Italy's national election.

They had reason to expect the opposite. The party has been having trouble holding its card-carrying members. Its leadership is behind Moscow, but a strong pro-Peking faction exists, creating internal friction. Part of its strength is backing from many Italian intellectuals. Yet at the height of the campaign Moscow launched an attack on Soviet intellectuals.

to hold our own," one Communist leader said.

CHIDED BY CHINESE

The outcome strengthened the hand of Palmiro Togliatti, 70, who has crossed verbal swords with Peking and followed all the Kremlin's political turns except its campaign against liberal artists and intellectuals.

In March, as the election campaign warmed up, the Communist Chinese news agency said Togliatti engaged in "parliamentary idiosyncrasy." The Chinese chided his view that communism could come to power in Italy through constitutional means.

The Italian Reds smart whenever anyone suggests they are tainted by middle-class customs. At the Italian party congress last year one of Togliatti's top lieutenants, Giancarlo Pajetta, looked straight at a Communist Chinese delegation and said:

"Our policy is one responding perfectly to the needs of the Italian people."

Italian political experts in general believe the Communists gained through factors not direct-

HIGH COURT CRITICIZED

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh business executive said today that what he called socialistic court judgments by the U.S. Supreme Court are paving the way to federal domination this country.

Speaking at a convention of the American Gas Association's Operating Section, Col. Willard F. Rockwell, chairman of the board of the Rockwell Manufacturing said:

"Why should it be necessary to spend a fortune in time and money to legislate socialistic desires."

ly determined by them. Italy's economic boom had taken hundreds of thousands of southern Italians to factories in the North. In the South, they had lived in Christian Democrat strongholds. In the North, they were in contact with Communist labor leaders for the first time.

VATICAN A FACTOR
The Communists probably attracted a number of votes from Socialists disgruntled because of the alliance of their leader, Pietro Nenni, with Christian Democratic Premier Amintore Fanfani had not produced the sweeping social reforms they expected.

Another factor was an easing in Vatican relations with the Communist world. In central Italy's Red belt, men often voted Communist but their church-going wives, fearing excommunication, voted Christian Democrat. Big Communist gains indicated that many wives went along with their husbands this year.

MANY MAYORS TO BE CHOSEN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Twenty-four third class cities in Pennsylvania will elect a mayor this year. All but five incumbents are seeking re-nomination in Tuesday's primaries.

Mayors in DuBois, Lebanon and Johnstown are retiring from public office. The mayor of Chester, Republican Joseph Eyre, is running for recorder of deeds.

Harrisburg's Mayor Nolan F. Ziegler, a Republican, died of cancer last March. Interim Mayor Daniel H. Barry is not a candidate.

Only one of the five cities has a primary fight, however. That's in Johnstown where three Democrats and two Republicans battle for the seat of Mayor George R.

SCRANTON IS PICKETED BY YORK PUPILS

YORK, Pa. (AP)—A group of York Catholic High School students, protesting the proposed five per cent sales tax, picketed a hotel here Thursday night where Gov. Scranton was attending a banquet.

Eleven of the students waved hand-made banners at the governor bearing such slogans as: "York says you hit those least able to pay," "We oppose the sales tax increase," and "4 per cent—enough."

The picketing occurred just before the start of ceremonies honoring York County Republican Theodore F. Freed.

Scranton conversed with the students briefly when he arrived, then answered their questions later at a news conference.

He assured them he is studying New Hampshire's new lottery to determine its administrative problems and revenue estimates.

He also stated that an income tax would first require a constitutional revision and that he would consider a tax on drugs only as a last resort.

When asked about the possibilities of legalizing horse racing in Pennsylvania, Scranton noted that the state is starting harness racing which is expected to produce $38 million a year for the commonwealth.

Afterwards, the students — 11 boys and 3 girls—maintained that Scranton failed to change their views on the sales tax boost, but added they were "grateful for the time he talked with them."

Scranton himself praised the youngsters for their efforts and interest in state affairs. "More young people are interested in state government today than in my young days," he said.

Walter.

In Harrisburg, Dr. William K. McBride, 61, the Republican chairman of Dauphin County commissioners, and Democrat David E. Kerr, 33, an official of the Pennsylvania Borough's Association, will wait until November to settle their fight. McBride is favored.

Priest Will Drive Peace Corps Auto

By BEN LAIME

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A Jesuit missionary priest from St. Louis, who thinks more Americans should visit the people of Latin America, plans to drive a Peace Corps car to Honduras this month.

The Rev. Charles Prendergast, a missionary in the province of Yoro in Honduras the past seven years, thinks his gesture may help.

"Let's hope this little car will do a lot of good," he said, "in cementing relations with our Latin-American brothers."

RESPECT POWER

Father Prendergast says Latin Americans respect nations which use power.

"When I say they like power," he said, "I cite for example the invasion of the Bay of Pigs in Cuba. Every child in my schoolroom lost some respect for the United States then, not because we invaded—but because we failed."

He feels persons in his mission have no more affection for the United States than they have for Cuba. "While their enthusiasm for Cuba may be cooling, there is no corresponding rise in their affection for the United States," he said.

HOPE IN PEACE CORPS

One reason for this feeling, Father Prendergast said, is that Americans who live in Latin America—civilians, military and State Department officials—remain aloof.

"For example, the people of Yoro to my knowledge have never seen the American ambassador," he said. "For that matter, they have seen few people from the embassy. We just don't get around to see the right people—the working class."

He sees some hope in the Peace Corps, but admits "it won't be an instantaneous thing. The members of the Peace Corps in Hon-

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former producer Sid Luft, who claims he is living on borrowed money, must pay $300 in monthly child support to his ex-wife, actress Lynn Bari.

Superior Court Thursday ordered Luft to make the payments for six months, at which time a new hearing will be held to examine Luft's financial situation.

duras are taken as individuals and not as representatives of the powerful American government."

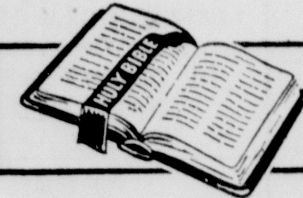

THE FAST PACE OF LIFE

You'll find lots of people concerned about the tempo of life today. But most of them simply catch a breath when they can, and try to keep up with the pace.

There is something more important!

The winner trains . . . and plans his race. He may lag behind for a while, but he is confident of hidden resources. When others have burned up their energy and enthusiasm, he forges to the front. As they wilt in the home stretch, he sprints across the finish line.

The Church can help you train . . . and plan! A Christian is concerned with his own spiritual stamina rather than the fast pace of life. He is ready with hidden resources when the moment of challenge comes.

Irrigation Alone Is Not A Cure For Poor Farming Management Says Agent

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

Every summer when the weather is hot and dry, some farmers hurriedly buy irrigation systems trying to save a crop which is suffering from lack of adequate soil moisture.

Tom Piper

Irrigation alone is not a cure for poor farm management. To justify the investment of an estimated $75 to $150 per acre in irrigation equipment alone, a farmer must be able to increase his yields from 50 to 100 per cent on certain crops. He can't expect to do this unless he has the necessary plant population, plus the fertilizer and lime required to grow the crop to maturity. He also reminds farmers that it is useless to irrigate if weeds, diseases and insects are not controlled and if crops are not harvested at the peak of production and marketability.

The most important natural resource for irrigation is an adequate water supply. It takes 27-153 gallons of water to place the equivalent of one inch of rainfall on one acre of land. If you plan to irrigate a 10-acre field with the equivalent of one inch of rainfall, it will take over a quarter million gallons of water.

DIFFERENT PROBLEMS
Proper irrigation system design and proper equipment selection often determines whether irrigating will be profitable or not. Since every farm is different, every irrigation system will be different. Let your irrigation dealer custom design a system for your particular farm.

The county agent's office has a booklet entitled "Planned Irrigation Pays" which can be obtained at the office. It explains how an irrigation system should be designed and operated for best results.

WATER FOR CHICKS
Water is one of the cheapest feeds we have, and it is important to see that it is available to baby chicks at all times. Provide at least one 1-gallon fountain for each 100 chicks. When automatic fountains are used, provide one 3-foot fountain for each 250 chicks.

When switching the chicks to automatic fountains, move the small glass fountains toward the new equipment. Too often poultrymen make the change from hand-filled fountains to automatic ones too rapidly. Unless the chicks have become accustomed to automatic fountains before the others have been discarded, they may not get enough water and thus become dehydrated. Locate the fountains so the birds will not have to go more than 10 feet for water.

MANY PLANT TREES

An estimated 50 million home gardeners this season will be planting trees, shrubs, evergreens and other plant materials to make their home grounds and properties more livable, more beautiful and more valuable. A few plants added to your property in the right place can be the beginning of a well planted home site.

A well-conceived plan should be developed in order to achieve success in your landscaping. Your property can appear almost the same as a painting. You have the land, sky and space as your canvas to start painting a lovely and practicable picture. Trees, shrubs, evergreens, ground covers, and other plant materials are the art materials with which you work. Try to develop a pleasing composition.

Study the location of your house and the slope of the ground. Don't just look at your house; think of the property as a whole.

BLEND FOLIAGE

Before you plant, visualize the outlines of your planting as you want it to be in the future. Make sure that the types of foliage blend together. Here your local, reliable nurseryman can help you.

Planting for best effect must have unity. It must tie the house, driveway, walks and land together to make a pleasing picture. Why not study the plantings around other homes in your area and particularly look at those which are exceptionally pleasing to you. Remember that every plant that you place should have a depth and purpose on the property.

Attractive foundation plantings tend to tie the building to the ground in a natural way and thus make the home more attractive to the family, neighbors and friends.

DEFINITE PURPOSE

Have a definite purpose that can be used for accent. Background trees are also essential. If you have an open attractive view, plant only low-growing ornamentals to set it off. Small plant material should be planted to frame the view, not to block it. An unsightly view can be covered up with a street planting of tall shrubs or trees. A living fence of low shrubs may serve to separate your property from that of your neighbors.

When you select your plant material from your nursery remember that you are expressing your own personality. This should be your planting and should satisfy your own individual wants. A nurseryman can give you advice

WOMAN BUILDS HOME, STABLE IN SPARE TIME

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Peggy Hogan is a homesteader in the frontier tradition.

She has hacked and hewed her way through a two-acre wooded lot and come up with a home for herself and a stable for her horses.

Mrs. Logan, a grandmother cleared the lot, cut up timber with a rented chainsaw and used the logs for fence posts.

A bank teller by day and a builder by necessity, Mrs. Hogan started work on her homestead a little more than a year ago.

HORSES COME FIRST

More important than a roof over her head, however, was a place to keep her two horses, 19-year-old Lovely Lady and 9-year-old Morning Star and her Persian cat, Meanie.

Despite the pessimism of friends and relatives, Mrs. Hogan bought the farm site 12 miles west of Richmond and went to work.

"All of my family kept telling me I couldn't possibly do it, and not a single one of them would advise or help me at first because they said I was getting in over my head," she recalls.

Her only previous building experience was putting up a retaining wall around a patio.

SAVED UP HEAVY WORK

After the lot was cleared she drew up plans for the house and had a contractor erect a shell. She did all of the painting and completed the interior work.

On a two-week vacation from the bank she dug the foundation for the 20-by-30-foot barn, put in the floor and mixed the concrete and laid all the blocks.

Heavy work that she couldn't and suggestions about plants for a particular purpose, such as foundation plantings, screening or privacy, flowers or fruits.

do alone was saved for times when friends showed up to check on her progress. "Then I would tell them that there was just one little thing that they could do for me," she grins.

SHE REFINISHED ORGAN

"I've got to admit it was hard work, but I enjoyed every minute of it," she says now.

After completing the house and barn, Mrs. Hogan put up a corral for the horses and fenced in a pasture with oak posts.

Inside the house she has made some of her own furniture and refinished a pump organ.

"Fixing up that organ was worse than building the barn," she says. "There was a coat of paint and varnish on it at least half an inch thick."

CARPENT NEXT?

Mrs. Hogan did not miss a day's work at the bank while building her homestead, now still keeps up the pace with housework and farm chores.

When there is nothing else to do "I crochet a little," she says.

The future? "I don't have any building projects yet," she says with a faraway look in her eyes. "But maybe I'll put up a carport."

MAT MAKER IS STILL EXPERT

ROCK HARBOR, Nfld. (AP) — One dull, windy day last autumn, Mrs. Sarah Brown emerged from her home in this tiny south coast fishing settlement and hung some of her most prized handiwork on the clothesline. Mrs. Brown, now over 90, is still an expert at hooking and poking mats. Like many older Newfoundland women in the outports, she cherishes her hand-made heirlooms as a city woman might care for her costliest carpets.

Long ago she learned that aside from a once-a-year soaking and scouring in salt water down on the shore, all that is needed to keep the mats clean is an occasional airing. And it's just as important that the day chosen for airing be overcast as well as windy. The sun might make the colors fade.

SAVED FOR SUNDAYS
While the extra-special mats are kept to be shown to friends and other visitors and are never walked on, there are other almost-as-prized floral-patterned mats in that are spread on floors only on Sundays, or on some special occasion such as the visit of a minister or doctor.

Mat-making was once common in every cove, harbor and small town in Newfoundland. The art has all but disappeared from the larger settlements. And even in some tiny communities it has given way to television as a way to spend the long fall and winter evenings.

Mothers and their daughters usually do the designing and hooking while the younger children, their chores and lessons finished for the day, are assigned the task of ripping apart discarded garments of various colors and cutting the pieces of fabric into strips. It's often necessary to dye some pieces of cloth when certain colors aren't available.

Clete Boyer of the Yankees drove in only three runs in his first 11 games this spring. In game No. 12 he hit a home run with the bases loaded. It was the second grand slam of his career.

Consumers To Feel Increase Of Sugar Cost In Food Items

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—You're going to spend more this year. You might as well get used to the idea now.

Part of this will be because prices will be higher, all the way from sugar to steel. You'll notice the sugar price increase first, because very few buy steel as such. And there's a long road indeed between the price rise at the steel mill and the increase, if any, in the gadget at the store or the dealer's.

And on most other things you buy the price will change little, if at all.

But you'll be shelling out extra money this year, producers feel sure now, because you want more expensive things—from food to autos.

HIGHER INCOMES

And much of this increased spending, the government experts tell us, will be because many American families will have higher incomes—along with the fact there'll be more families.

The Agriculture Department expects Americans to spend $77 billion for food this year, or 4 per cent more than last year. But it quickly adds that this will be just about 19 per cent of personal incomes after taxes, while last year 19.3 per cent went for food.

Most food prices will be stable, it thinks. Some will fluctuate with the fickleness of the weather.

Sugar is different. Refined sugar prices have gone up again—the 12th increase this year. This may surprise most housewives, used for years to government controls that have held the price fairly steady.

TIGHT SUPPLY

But the price at the refinery in the New York area is now $14.20 per 100 pounds, up $4.40 since the start of the year. The U.S. government for years has managed the price by increasing or decreasing the quotas of foreign sugar that could come in and there usually was a world surplus on which to draw. Today the

CLARK NOT INVITED TO DEM DINNER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Democrats held their annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner Wednesday night and did not invite Sen. Joseph S. Clark, who in recent months has taken a number of pot shots at the party regulars.

Rep. William J. Green Jr., city Democratic chairman, confirmed that Clark wasn't invited. This, after a party spokesman at first said Clark was detained in Washington.

Francis R. Smith, party finance chairman, said Clark elected last November to his second six-year term, never bought a ticket for the affair.

Most of the other city and state Democratic leaders were on hand for the $25 per plate dinner. Former Govs. David L. Lawrence and George M. Leader were at the head table.

So were Otis B. Morse, state world supply is so tight that the price is set outside this country. Much of this is due to the sharp decline in Cuban production, now forbidden to enter this country. And much is due to rising demand for sugar around the world as other nations become more prosperous and have more mouths to feed.

Rising prices of refined sugar may soon spread beyond the supermarket shelves. Producers of soft drinks, ice cream, candy and cake have to pay more for their sugar, too. And as competition permits they may raise prices.

AIR-CONDITIONED FASHIONS. No matter how you spend your summer, you are bound to spend part of it in air-conditioning. It follows that you need some clothes that go hot-to-cool, and so keep you from getting in either a swivet or a deep-freeze.

Several kinds of clothes do the job superbly. In summery fabrics and colors, the jacket costume is a natural bastion against sudden temperature changes. Newer, and perhaps more fashion-oriented, are the sleeved bodyskimmers and shirt dresses.

Actually covered-up, free-flowing clothes are known to provide the best defense against fluctuating temperatures. As witness the desert Arab, whose flowing robes offer equal protection against sizzling days and chilling nights.

Materials contribute to comfort, too. Porous and absorbent fabrics—cotton tweed, rustic linen, lacy knits, sheer wool—are impervious to the thermometer. They seem to have a built-in thermostat. When you're hot they keep you cool, and vice versa.

Since the need for genuinely air-conditioned clothes has gained recognition by leading designers, a collection of them has come into being. And that is a good omen for us girls who like to be

OFFICE EXPERT LISTS POINTS FOR SUCCESS

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Ruth Gallinot does not believe there is a way to succeed in business without really trying.

"The trouble," sighs the astute, brown-eyed, chestnut-haired woman serving her second term as president of the National Secretaries Association, "is that young people want to take an express elevator to the top."

Today, she claims, an ambitious woman must stop at all floors on the way up to pick up more education, special training, experience, and maturity.

Even now as executive secretary to the president of a large garment manufacturing concern in Chicago Miss Gallinot works comfortable, as well as smart. When you come right down to it, how smart can you look if you're uncomfortable?

AT THE SWITCHBOARD ONCE IN A WHILE "FOR THE EXPERIENCE."

As the efficient president of some 2,500 stellar girl fridays throughout the world she knows well the typical problems that wrinkle a young secretary's brow. Miss Gallinot's common sense replies to these indicate why she is considered secretary of secretaries. For example:

How do I ask for a raise? Be sure your performance merits it. Time is right. (Are the books in the black and the boss in a good mood?) Then state your case in a business-like manner without threats or innuendos about other people's salaries.

How do you handle the office wolf? Never allow him to reach the point of being a problem. Your icy attitude ought to warn him.

Are coffee breaks okay? They are an institution, but don't abuse them.

Should your boss ask you to shop for him? Yes, you are there to conserve his time. He'll probably give you more lunch time for the chore.

What is my relationship with the boss's wife? The friendliest possible. Establish rapport at lunch or tea. Be genuinely interested in her problems. Then she won't mind leaving her messages with you instead of insisting on interrupting the boss's meetings.

Am I expected to tell lies for the boss? You will tell white ones to avoid hurting someone's feelings. Each person believes his call is the most important thing of the moment, even though the boss has issued do-not-disturb orders. It's better to say, with fingers crossed, that he can't be located.

How do I handle gossip? You don't participate.

What should I have in my desk? Dictionary, thesaurus, atlas road maps, a list of most easily misspelled words, sewing kit, medicine kit, white gloves, extra pair of hose, nail polish, last year's calendar.

Letter to the Editor

March 14, 1963

Dear Editor:

A friend of mine sent me The Gettysburg Times clipping announcing the candidacy of Karl J. Smith for County Commissioner because she knew I would be interested. I am. I worked closely with Karl Smith for about three years when he was County Commissioner and I was Director of Child Welfare. Part of that time he was the Chairman of the County Commissioners. I have a great deal of respect for him as a man of integrity, as a warm human being who cares about people and as an intelligent, efficient and responsible administrator.

I prefer to work for a guy who feels to me like "a real man," whose word can be depended upon, someone who has principle and convictions and stands by them when the "chips are down." This was the kind of man Karl Smith was throughout my entire experience with him.

As Chairman, he was a good "boss." He knew what was happening in our agency because he took time to find out. He regularly discussed the operation and problems of the agency with me, with the state consultants and with the Citizen's Advisory Committee. One fall he attended a series of evening meetings on a particular problem the agency was facing. His decisions, made after questioning me and listening to the recommendations of the Advisory Committee were ones we could and did respect. He was careful about money and was "pound wise rather than penny foolish." Most important of all (in my opinion) he valued children and the future of Adams County and his decisions took them as well as money into account.

I've been away from Adams County for seven years now and am almost too busy to concern myself with Philadelphia's primary politics, let alone Adams County's. But I still care (and I guess I always will) about Adams County's Child Welfare program. That's why I wanted to write to you in behalf of Karl Smith. I know that he cares too and I think Adams County children deserve a County Commissioner who does.

Sincerely yours,

Bettie Y. Livermore

Kennedy Will Commemorate 30th Anniversary Of TVA

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Back in President Washington's day U.S. Army engineers poked around in the Tennessee River, studying it. Next Saturday President Kennedy goes down to the river to celebrate an anniversary.

Between the two men were a lot of history and people, particularly these five presidents — the two Roosevelts, Wilson, Coolidge and Hoover — and a senator, George W. Norris of Nebraska.

The first Roosevelt, Theodore, made such a big thing of conserving this country's natural resources — and boosting irrigation and reclamation — that some historians consider it his greatest achievement.

VETOED POWER BILL
But it was something he did in a positive-negative way that has special significance in Kennedy's visit this week. He vetoed a bill for private power development at Muscle Shoals, a 37-mile stretch of rapids in the Tennessee River.

He argued the government should develop the power made available by dams built to improve the stream.

Came World War I and the need for a lot of munitions. Under Wilson a munitions plant was built at Muscle Shoals and a dam, called Wilson, was started to provide power for the plant and improve navigation in the river.

For 15 years after the war there was a great debate: What to do with the plants? Private companies wanted to buy but they offered too little. Norris came into the picture.

TVA AUTHORITY
He thought the Muscle Shoals properties should be operated publicly. Out of this thinking came the idea of a Tennessee Valley Authority to benefit the whole region. He steered two bills through Congress.

Coolidge vetoed the first (1928) and Hoover the second (1931). Their objection: That TVA would mean government competition with private enterprise. "That," Hoover said, "is not liberalism, it is degeneration."

But Franklin D. Roosevelt became president March 4, 1933. Within the next famous 100 days he and Norris got a TVA bill through Congress. Roosevelt signed it into law May 18, 1933.

TVA ANNIVERSARY
Kennedy's visit to Muscle Shoals next Saturday is to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the creation of TVA. Norris had later proposed seven other TVA-type programs for other parts of the country but all failed.

TVA, administered by three directors in Tennessee and not out of Washington, was created to help a region. Other dams and power projects may have multiple purposes but they're not like TVA whose expressed purpose was:

To provide power, flood control, and navigation. Two historians,

Samuel Eliot Morison and Henry Steele Commager, went so far as to say that of all the New Deal measures TVA was possibly the "most important for the future."

It serves an area involving seven states. There are now 31 dams in the TVA system—nine on the Tennessee River and 22 on its tributaries. The U-shaped river, which begins at Knoxville, turns down and then up to Paducah, Ky. where it joins the Ohio.

SELLS POWER
The Tennessee is navigable for 650 miles because of the locks in its dams, and its channels. The TVA sells electric power wholesale to municipalities and cooperatives in an 80,000 mile area, thus keeping down the price.

Floods are controlled because water can be held back by the dams in reservoirs. TVA plants experiment with and produce fertilizers which industries get free on a TVA license. In addition to all this, there are lakes with 10,000 miles of shoreline for outdoors activities.

Nothing like TVA, which runs itself with its 18,000 employees, is likely soon. For one thing, business has never stopped yelling this is socialism.

So many government agencies have a hand in other projects around the country that they overlap and fight one another for a say-so. For example: 15 different agencies are involved in one way or another in power transmission, 9 in irrigation and 12 in flood control.

Dear Editor:
Since someone has been successful to have bells rung on July 4th, I'd like a request granted too. Let the crowds be so great and the fanfare so elaborate that the profound significance of what happened here during the three days battle at Gettysburg be forgotten. I'd like a bugler to blow taps in the National Cemetery the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of July for the Civil War dead and on July 4th for those of all wars who made the "supreme sacrifice."

If enough buglers were available, I'd like to hear taps from the strategic points of the battlefield at sundown during the three days centennial observance. My fondest wish would be to hear the taps every year during tourist season in the National Cemetery with the lowering of Union and Confederate flags as well as the American flag.

UP TOLD NEW RELIGIOUS LINGO NEEDED

DES MOINES—A new religious language and radical changes in church institutional structure were called for as necessities in a modern society by two evangelists speaking to 2,000 persons attending the evangelism conference prior to the 175th United Presbyterian General Assembly here.

"The best heard religious language is about 400 years out of date in terms of its world view," said Dr. Carlyle Marney, pastor of Myers Park Baptist Church, N. C. He likened the members of the church to "middle-men" acting between "God's great intention and humanity's vast need." Marney said the church has been guilty of coddling the "insiders" and speaking in words which say nothing to the "outsiders."

Dr. Colin Williams, executive director of the National Council's Central Department of Evangelism, said "young rebels" in the church today, reacting violently against the community parish system, may be developing new features of tomorrow's church. The modern institutional church "cannot continue to limit its work to the parishes in which its members live" for all of their living does not go on there.

Williams cited coffee shops, small study-workshop groups, and training academies for lay people, as examples of new forms of Christian witness and proposed a "segment" plan through which churches of several denominations would work together in a section of a city—"a section which would be big enough to include different racial groups, class groups, different economic barriers, educational, health and political institutions."

DEMOCRATS HIT GOP TAX PACT ON CANDY, GUM

By RICHARD L. GRAVES
HARRISBURG (AP) — Democrats bombed the Republican tax bundle with bubble gum, bunnies and baseball cards to no avail this week.

When the verbal battle had moved on, it appeared the minority party's arguments lacked the teeth to sever the jugular of the GOP juggernaut. The Democrats chewed the Republicans thoroughly, but they couldn't even gum the tax bill machinery.

This year it was the Republicans hiking the sales tax. Four years ago the Democrats did it and the tax-exempt shoe was on the other foot.

OLD STORY

The story is an old one in legislative halls. One side has the votes; the other side doesn't. The storm and fire of day-long debates this week failed to change a vote.

Despite that, it appeared that lawmakers of all persuasions imagined their prolonged incantations during floor debates would magically transform the baser elements of the opposite party into gold.

Leading the Democratic House contingent during action on the plan to boost the present 4 per cent sales tax to 5 per cent was Minority Leader Anthony J. Petrosky. He got right to the heart of the matter this way:

"That anyone would have desired to put a 100 per cent tax upon penny candies and bubble gum shocks me. I am not persuaded that this was any accident."

He referred to what Republicans conceded was a gaff in writing up the tax boost. Until fixed, their plan would have imposed the sales tax on items selling for less than 11 cents. Those items are presently exempt.

LOW LEVEL TAX

The horror of low-level taxation inspired Petrosky to add:

"Can you imagine your boy paying a tax at the rate of 20 per cent on baseball trading cards?"

As it is, said Rep. Leroy Irvin, D-Allegheny, during debate, Easter Bunnies will be subject to the sales tax. Irvin painted a pathetic word picture of a little girl buying an Easter Bunny, then promising the shop keeper to eat the rabbit — just to escape the sales tax (food is exempt; pets are not).

One observer suggested that if the child could not afford the sales tax on an Easter Bunny, she probably ought to eat it.

NONVOTERS

But the image of a little girl tearfully chewing a roasted—but tax-exempt—Easter Bunny failed to shake the steely-eyed Republican majority. Kids don't vote.

Thus, the tax bill passed. In fact, a pair of Democrats voted for it. They may have been anti-bubble gum.

As Petrosky declared during one of the nine hours of House debate on the sales tax:

"We have seen a ruthless display of power simply because of a numerical superiority."

George A. Custer probably said something like that at the Little Big Horn.

GROUP ADVISES TIGHTER RULES ON PESTICIDES

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's Science Advisory Committee contends that every 150 Americans — half of them children — are killed through misuse of powerful chemical pesticides.

To protect humanity and wildlife the committee urges strong and speedy action to assure more judicious use of chemical pesticides, including a strengthening of federal laws relating to control of their marketing and use.

The report was issued late Wednesday by the White House with this accompanying word from the President:

"I have already requested the responsible agencies to implement the recommendations in the report, including the preparation of legislative and technical proposals which I shall submit to the Congress."

WELCOMES AID

At the Agriculture Department, Secretary Orville L. Freeman said he welcomes recommendations that will strengthen his agency in "its continuing efforts to insure the proper use of pesticides, to increase the efficiency of our agriculture and provide a plentiful and wholesome food supply for all."

Among the highlights of the report, prepared by a panel of experts appointed by the Science Advisory Committee:

The number of nonfatal poisonings can only be estimated, but in California, the nation's biggest user of chemical pesticides, 1,000 workers were sickened by agricultural chemicals in 1959.

Substantial mortalities among birds and other wildlife have resulted from many kinds of insect control programs using pesticides. The survey was largely gener-

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

NEW YORK (AP)—A man never quite gets over the dreams of his youth. And if he's a stubborn man, he never quits trying to make them come true.

Film star Kirk Douglas, despite a deceptive dimple in his big square chin, is a very stubborn man indeed.

His motto is: "Never play it safe—take a chance."

So, after completing his 39th movie, "The List of Adrian Mes-enger," a mystery melodrama directed by John Huston, Douglas has decided to live up to his motto.

He's going to take another chance on Broadway, a street where he failed to win fame earlier in his career but which spring-boarded him to Hollywood and stardom. Douglas plans to open here next November in a drama called "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

Why should a man with three Academy Award nominations to his credit shelve all that screen loot, even temporarily, for a risky adventure where he tried nine times before and lost?

"Because I'm nuts," said Kirk frankly. "Because in a sense you can say I'm a failure."

"I never thought of going into the movies when I started out. I wanted to make it on the stage."

"In a sense I'm trying to do what I've wanted to do for a long time. And I felt if I didn't do it now, I'd get too scared."

"This will be my tenth play on Broadway. I have a kind of consistent record of flops except for 'Kiss and Tell.'"

"If this one is a flop, I can still say I'm consistent. But if it's a hit, I'll have satisfied the big dream of my life."

YOUTHFUL YEARS

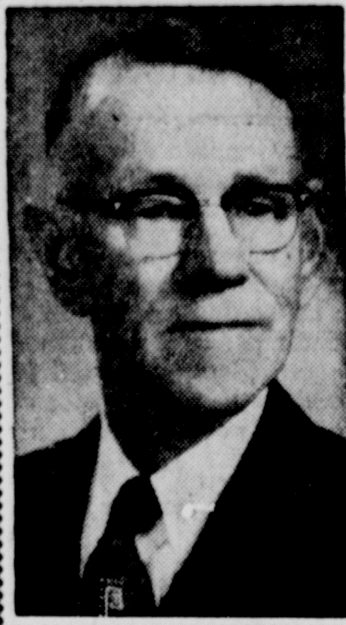

Douglas looks back with nostalgia on his youthful years here when he was trying to belt the big town down to his size. He lived in the traditional Greenwich Village garret, worked in a settlement house, carried trays in a restaurant.

His planned furlough from the camera, Kirk hopes, will also provide him a welcome release for a time from the often chafing ordeals that go with film stardom.

"I want to recapture for a while that simple dream of just being an actor—and forget the big business worries and other nonsense connected with being a movie star."

"The only thing special about anybody is what they are. You can only make peace with yourself by exploring your boundaries—and then learning to function within them."

"But the fear of failure is the greatest deterrent to getting anything done. I don't believe it's really safe to try to play it safe in life—or to let yourself get too set in anything."

ANNOUNCEMENT To The Voters Of Adams County

Several months ago I announced my candidacy for the office of Adams County Commissioner. Since then I have tried to talk to as many voters as possible but time has not permitted me to see all of you. Therefore I am taking this opportunity to invite your support and vote for me. Even if I have not personally contacted you I am interested in your problems of county Government. I would like to help bring new ideas together with the aggressiveness of youth to make a more economical Government.

I was born March 31, 1926. Son of Harrison S. and Annie E. Fair. Attended York Springs High School. After serving in the United States Air Force I worked at Knouse Foods for two years. Started Dairy Farming in 1948 which I presently am doing. Was president of joint Church Council York Springs Lutheran Church. Local 4-H leader. Cub Scout Committee member, member of Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Gettysburg Moose Lodge, York Springs Fire Dept. Was elected twice to Tax Collector of Huntingdon Township with a substantial majority. I am presently collector.

I am married to the former Marvel Thomas and we are the parents of two sons and a daughter.

Remember No. 5 on your Democratic Ballot.
